Tuesday night Victor R. Madsen returned from the mine with a bar of gold bullion valued at $2,500, while another carload of rich concentrates will be shipped tomorrow. The clean-up for the month of June, Mr. Madsen says, will approximate $10,500, while the cost of operating mine and mill with a payroll carrying fifty-eight names, will be about $5,800. In other words, the dividend of $3,000 has been earned, a great amount of development work in the mine has been done in addition to the mining of ore for the mill, and the company has been able to add to its surplus approximately $1,700.

The recently encountered "spur" vein, Mr. Madsen reports, is opening up splendidly as drifting through or along it progresses. It varies in thickness between four and five feet and it is nothing uncommon to get assays running $100 per ton in gold, while the rock, just as it is broken and sent to the mill, is maintaining an average of from $15 to $18 per ton. All parts of the mine are reported to be giving excellent accounts of themselves, and as it will neither be very expensive or require much time to place the added accident of the month of the mon

W. G. Scott, superintendent of the ntinental company's Alta mines, has bur F. Dubois of Seattle, who has been at camp the past two or three days familiarlzing himself with the mines.

Mr. Scott has been in the employ of the company for a year and Manager Henry M. Crowther speaks of him and his work in the highest terms. He found the altitude too high, and for that reason called for his release.

He comes highly recommended, however, and his abilities are well known to Manager Crowther, who, while he regrets the loss of Mr. Scott, is confident that the company's interests will not suffer at the hands of his successor. The season's campaign of development at the mines is well under way, and while Manager Crowther says there is nothing in the way of new strikes to report, the shipping record tells what the company is doing. northwest. nanza in California.

Right after the Fourth of July L. H. Outzen, one of the chief owners in the Shasta Gold & Copper company's property, in Shasta county, California, will leave for camp to begin the systematic opening up of the latest discovery in the ground. W. F. Mitchell, who has supervised the work of development and prospecting of the ground during the past two years, stated yesterday that no less than nine separate ledges had been discovered in the company's claims. Every one of them carries greater or less values in gold, and in some of them copper appears as well, but none of the other velns at the surface compare with the one that Mr. Outzen is going to prove up and ship but none of the other veins at the surface compare with the one that Mr. Outzen is going to prove up and ship from just as soon as elbow room can be made for men.

At a point over where this ledge crosses a deep gulley in the ground eight inches of fine ore were uncovered. It was followed into the hill forty feet and the rock taken out all the way to the surface. In going the forty feet a face was exposed twenty-nine feet high with the vein four feet wide in the bottom. During the time this work was progressing eight separate average samples of the rock were taken. The lowest returns secured were $64.07 in gold per ton, while the highest were $912.02. An average of all the samples taken shows the rock to have a value of very close to $250 per ton.

Across the gulch, about forty feet away, a cut has been run in five feet, and the same kind of ore is exposed there, while for a distance of 2,000 feet along the same vein shallow holes have been sunk at intervals and ore has been found in every one of them.

Willard F. Snyder, W. F. Mitchell and L. H. Outzen are the heaviest owners in the company, while L. F. Harr, the cigar man, is the owner of a nice block of the stock.

MERCUR DIRECTOR IN OIL. Will S. Brown Interested in New Producer in Kansas Field. Will S. Brown of the Consolidated Mercur directorate, who has been on a trip to the coast for the past two weeks, returned to this city Tuesday night from Portland, Ore. Yesterday horning he receive a dispatch advising him that a syndicate of Nebraska men with whom he is interested in the Chinook oil fields in southeastern Kansas had just brought in their first oil sas had just brought in their first oll well.

"We have a quarter section of land in the field," said Mr. Brown, "and this is the second well finished. The first one is producing a strong flow of very good gas, but oil was not encountered in it. The well just shot is. I imagine, about 1,000 feet deep, as that is the average distance they have to go in the field for oil. The wells so far discovered all have to be numped, but the oil is of such a grade that it readily sells on the ground at $1.30 to $1.40 per barrel, as compared with 65 cents to 75 cents for the oils produced in the Beaumont and Cali-fornia fields. The district already has s pipe lines and storage reservoirs, and the producers have a ready muret for their product. It now begins blook as though we should make loney out of our holdings."

Take the Next.

(Kansas City Times.)

When you're waiting on a corner
For a car.

And it goes by like a whirlwind,
Don't it jar?

Then when out leans the conductor,
Aren't you vexed.

As in careless way he yells out:
"Take the next?"

You are anxious to be going,

But you can't;

How you rail at "such a system."

How you rant!

But when one more car goes by you.

You're not vexed;

You're half crazy when he sings out:

"Take the next."

Now if you could only have things
Run your way.
When for street car men there came
A judgment day.
I am sure you'd fix things so they
Would be yexed,
When the chariot passed to be told
"Take the next."
